THE STATE CONVENTION.

The State Democratic Convention which met in Columbia on Wednesday was largely attended and was a representative body. It was composed of many young men and yet there were many of the old stagers in evidence. There was manifest good feeling prevailing from beginning to finish and the debates were in good spirit. Most of the work was done in committee and apart from the discussion of two resolutions which should not have come into the convention at all, there was no opportunity for any display of eloquence. The platform was adopted as it came from the committee without discussion.

It was gratifying to see and observe the good feeling which prevailed throughout the sessions of the convention and not even a hint of former differences among Democrats was to be noticed.

It was evident that Republican doctrines and principles had no sympathizers among the members, and while there was harmony and good will prevailing throughout the session there was determination to stick to the principles of Democracy and to put every one who aspires to political position on notice that no departure from Democratic principles would be countenanced or tolerated.

The convention made no change in the pledge except as to candidates for Congress and the United States Senate and these will be required to "support the political principles and policies of the party during the term of office for which they may be elected and work in accord with their Democratic associates in Congress on all party questions." The pledge as to voters and candidates for other offices remains unchanged. There can be no objection to this for any man who accepts or desires an office of this kind from the hands of Democrats should be willing to support Democratic principles and policies or he should resign his commission. This is a modification of the pledge that had been proposed by some newspapers and public men and leaves some latitude to the officer as to minor matters. The voter and the candidate for other offices take the same pledge as heretofore. There can be no objection to this action of the convention.

The plan of two campaign parties to travel more than two weeks apart was adopted by the convention. This is a necessity if all the candidates are going to be given an opportunity to present their views, even briefly, for the indications now are that the list will be long and it would be a physical impossibility for all of them to make even brief announcement of the office to which they aspire in one day.

The convention adopted a resolution in favor of a law prohibiting child labor in our cotton mills. While we favor such a law we do not think this was a proper matter to come before a Democratic convention unless it were to be made a part of the platform. It is a matter of legislation and was not discussed in any of the county conventions to determine what the sentiment of the people is. It should, and no doubt will be made an issue in the primaries this summer and then the people will have an opportunity to express themselves on the subject. There is no doubt there is difference of opinion on this subject, even among the operatives themselves. In addition to this, if a child labor law is to be adopted there should go with it a compulsory education law. These matters, however, will all be discussed in the forthcoming campaign, and after the arguments pro and con are presented the people can then pass judgment.

As to the Horse Creek Valley Lockout we are of the opinion that the mill presidents are wrong. That is, with the lights we have, and yet they should not be condemned without the privilege of being heard. Fair play and just treatment should be given every one. By this we do not mean to be understood as in the least defending the mill presidents, and in this fight our sympathies have been entirely with the operatives.

Col. Willie Jones was chairman of the convention and afterwards made chairman of the State executive committee, a position which he held for several years, and which he has filled with great satisfaction to the party.

The candidates were present in great shape, but they are a jolly, clever set of fellows, and we are always glad to see them. In a few days things political will shape themselves up and we will know who is who.

It was stated in Columbia yesterday that Gov. McSwenney would not be a candidate for re-election as governor, but that he would in all probability be in the race for the United States Senate.

The speech of Col. George Johnstone on the resolutions of respect to Gen. Wade Hampton was a gem and met the applause of the entire convention and every one commented favorably on it.

Senator Tillman was called on after the adjournment of the convention and delivered a speech touching on national issues. He was received with marked attention and roundly applauded.

Altogether it was a pleasant and a successful convention.

We congratulate the editor of the State newspaper upon the fact that the State convention which met in Columbia on Wednesday "sustained the course of the State on practically every point," and that "the platform adopted, barring an incidental reference to the platform of 1900, was just what that newspaper suggested." We were in no way surprised, however. Of course no one will be mean enough to insinuate that the gentlemen who composed the convention acted thus for any other reason than that the State newspaper had "suggested" such a course. We were surprised, however, that the editor of The State could point out in less than a column all the points wherein his suggestions had been "sustained" simply because the suggestions were his. But the convention was only in session about five hours and probably in this length of time could not "sustain" more positions taken by The State than it did.

The Union Progress is on the right line in refusing to cut its price for candidates' announcements, in obedience to the will of the Union County Democratic executive committee. Such a committee is exceeding its authority by a good deal when it attempts to fix newspaper rates for announcing candidates, and we are glad to see that the editor of the Progress has determined to fix his own rates or that such announcements shall not appear in his paper.

O'Neal News.

News is very scarce at this writing. Some of the farmers are about through hoeing cotton.

Mrs. Mattie Cook has returned home from Leesville.

Spring oats will almost be a failure this year.

Messrs. A. A. Wessinger and T. L. Shealy recently visited relatives and friends in Lexington County.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Robertson spent last Saturday night and Sunday in this community.

Several of our people recently attended the Charleston Exposition.

Miss Sallie Pugh is home now. She has been teaching school at Big Creek.

Just ask friend T. how to manage hot gravy at a strange place.

Mr. W. P. Pugh has purchased a nice, new reaper. It will certainly save a great deal of hard labor in this community.

Mr. J. J. Lowman and wife have a very sick child at present.

Mr. J. T. Presson, of Newberry, recently passed by on his way to Macedonia, where he will put up a beautiful monument to the memory of Dr. W. E. Lybrand.

There was singing at Bethel last Sunday afternoon. A large crowd was present.

There was no preaching at Macedonia last Sunday. Rev. J. K. Eild was called away to the bedside of his mother who is very sick.

Bees and the girls are giving some of our young men trouble at present.

We notice that Prof. T. E. Wicker's name is announced as a candidate for County Superintendent of Education. We know him personally and think he is the man for the place. He taught one of the most successful terms of school that has ever been taught at O'Neal last winter. He will certainly do the county good if elected.

Much success to The Herald and News and its readers.

Whooping Cough.

A woman who has had experience with this disease, tells how to prevent any dangerous consequences from it. She says: "Our three children, four whooping cough last summer, our baby being only three months old, and owing to our giving them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, they lost none of their plumpness and came out in much better health than other children whose parents did not use this remedy. Our oldest little girl would call lustily for cough syrup between whoops.—Jesse Pinkey Hall, Springville, Ala. This Remedy is for sale by W. E. Pelham & Son."

PROCLAMATION!

STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA, EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, WHEREAS Information has been received at this Department that on the twelfth day of May, A. D., 1902, that the barn, together with corn, plow, tools, etc., belonging to J. C. Jenkins, one mile from Vaughanville, in the County of Newberry, was burned, and there being reason to believe that the burning was an act of incendiarism;

Now, Therefore, I, M. B. McSwenney, Governor of the State of South Carolina, in order that justice may be done and the majesty of the law vindicated, do hereby offer a reward of One Hundred Dollars for the apprehension and conviction of the person or persons who committed said act of incendiarism.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at Columbia, this Twenty-first day of May, A. D., 1902, and in the 26th year of the Independence of the United States of America.

M. B. McSWENNEY, Governor.

By the Governor: M. R. COOPER, Secretary of State.

Blood.

We live by our blood, and on it. We thrive or starve, as our blood is rich or poor.

There is nothing else to live on or by.

When strength is full and spirits high, we are being refreshed, bone muscle and brain, in body and mind, with continual flow of rich blood.

This is health.

When weak, in low spirits, no cheer, no spring, when rest is not rest and sleep is not sleep, we are starved; our blood is poor; there is little nutriment in it.

Back of the blood, is food, to keep the blood rich. When it fails, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. It sets the whole body going again—man, woman and child.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample its agreeable taste will surprise you. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 109 1/2 West Street, New York.

The Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Company, Philadelphia.

Mr. B. F. Gaffin, one of the most prominent merchants of Newberry writes us as follows:

Newberry, S. C., April 9th, 1902.

Mr. F. G. Spearman, Gen. Agt., Newberry, S. C.

Dear Sir: After a thorough examination of the plans and security offered me by the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Company, and after a careful comparison of its rates and policies with those of other companies, both of which were submitted to me for my acceptance. I took a policy in the Fidelity on my life for four thousand, and later took out two more thousand. You can infer how highly I regard your company.

I advise all desiring insurance to investigate the Fidelity's plans before insuring.

With best wishes. Yours truly,

B. F. GRIFFIN.
